Official Word.
Washington, March 11.—Inquiry from the Mexican foreign office as to the acceptability to this government of Emilio Rada as Mexican ambassador to Washington to succeed Senor Calero, retired, has brought the state department face to face with the question of formal recognition of the new provisional government of Mexico.

Up to this time Ambassador Wilson has been treating with the Huerta administration on a de facto basis, and it now becomes necessary to decide whether formal recognition shall be extended such as would be involved in the reception by President Wilson of the new ambassador.

Dispatches to the war department indicate a serious situation at Piedras Negras, Mexico, where the forces under Governor Carranza appear to be in full control. General Aubert with federal cavalry is reported near Montecave.

The railroad near Piedras Negras has been abandoned by the central government and Carranza is trying to operate the line by impressing discharged employees. The inhabitants fear the town may be destroyed.

Evacuate Town.
Douglas, Ariz., March 11.—Although ordered to evacuate Agua Prieta to prevent the possibility of international complications in the event of a battle General Ojeda and his 500 federal troops today found themselves menaced in all directions by a horde of state troops. Monterrey, Mexico, March 11.—The federal troops are reported to have driven a large body of adherents of Venustiano Carranza back toward Mezquic, after a fight on Sunday at San Salvador, Vona Vibes, in the state of Coahuila. Followers of Carranza are said to be spreading the rebel propaganda among the Kickapoo Indians, many of whom are flocking to the Carranza standard.

General Trucy Aubert, with a column of federal troops, has advanced to Barotoran, sixty miles north of Monclova, and it is expected he will shortly attack Carranza's men at Mezquic.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM
OBJECT OF ATTACK*Agitation a Madison For Entirely New Plan of Fixing Valuations in Wisconsin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 11.—Claiming that the Wisconsin system of assessment does not produce an equitable valuation of land and buildings for taxation purposes, Walter W. Pollock, formerly of Lancaster, mingled with the members of the legislature today and conferred with the state tax commission regarding the introduction of the Somers' system in this state. He will probably be invited to present his views to the legislature.

What is known as the Somers' system was adopted in Cleveland, Ohio, during the mayoralty of the late Tom L. Johnson. W. A. Somers who invented the system spent fifteen years in perfecting it. While connected with the city engineering department at St. Paul some years ago he first applied the system. For several years he was connected with the New York Tax commission and later went to Cleveland to install the plan there. "Nine tenths of the complaints that are now heard about inequalities of assessments could be remedied by the adoption of this plan," says Mr. Pollock, who came here from Des Moines, Ia., where it is being installed. "Last summer I was home on my vacation we used it on the village of Lancaster and few if any complaints have resulted. The problem of valuing land is a scientific one. The railroad man weighs the coal per car, the surveyor measures distances, but when it comes to an assessment we leave it to a matter of guess. The Somers' plan is one that will proportion the individual lot values equitably to one another."

The fundamental idea is that the community fixes the value of all land by a public meeting, according to Mr. Pollock. When by public discussion among land owners and dealers, the most valuable thoroughfare has been determined, the first step is to ascertain the fair market value of a front foot in the middle of a block. With this determined by means of the Somers' tables the remainder of the block can be easily valued. Mr. Pollock had a conference with Gov. McLaughlin yesterday afternoon over the plan he proposes and then took the subject up with the board of public affairs.

A bill for licensing by the state of detective agencies was ordered engrossed in the assembly. The assembly also ordered engrossed the bill giving to the state railway commission the right to order union stations if such a station were a public necessity in towns where there are two or more railways.

The senate killed Teasdale's bill providing for the ad valorem taxation of telephone companies.

An echo of the McGovern-Ekern controversy came up in the assembly in a bill offered by Assemblyman Rhea providing that county superintendents should not be allowed to engage in any other business or to engage in politics.

Friends of Ekern protested that the bill placed county superintendents under the absolute dictation of the state superintendent, and it was claimed some appeal should be allowed to the courts from the decision of the state superintendent. The bill was referred to the education committee on amendments.

RACE TRACK MEASURE
PASSES IN INDIANA*Legislature Passes Bill Creating Race Meet Commission Which Shall Decide on Licenses.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, March 11.—In the closing hours of the Indiana legislature which adjourned since die early today a racing commission bill was passed by the senate and went to the governor. The bill provides for a commission which is empowered to grant licenses to race tracks and state and county fairs where horse racing is to be held. The bill fixes the time of holding race meets from April 1st to November 15th, and also the number of days which each meet may continue. It also provides for a license fee of from $1 to $25 a day according to local conditions and patronage.

The promoters of a race meet must satisfy the commission of their "good moral character" before a license is granted, but in case of a refusal of a license the promoters may ask a court hearing. The commission also may revoke a license if dissatisfied with the conduct of the meet.

The bill empowers the licensee to collect entrance fees, fines and forfeitures. The bill will probably be signed by the governor.

FIVE SUFFRAGETTES
ARE SENT TO PRISON*Women Who Attempted Disturbance
While King Was on Way to Parliament, Get Jail

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 11.—The five suffragettes who yesterday attempted to reach the king with petitions while on his way to parliament were today sent to prison for periods ranging from 21 days to a month. The five young women gave their names as Lillian Wilcox, Dorothy Smith, Kathleen Page, Gertrude Vaughan and Grace Stuart.

The Bow street magistrate before whom they were arraigned gave them an opportunity of escaping prison sentences by filing sureties for their future good behavior. The young women indignantly rejected this alternative.

They were formally charged with obstructing the police. The evidence showed that the police had received specific orders to prevent anyone from throwing a letter or a petition to the king on his way to parliament. The accused argued that their action was perfectly legal and was based on the right of every British subject to present a petition to the king. The magistrate explained that the right to present a petition to his majesty must be exercised through a minister. A practical joker brought the suffragettes again into the line light today at the expense of a number of tradesmen. The headquarters of the militants on Kings Way was the scene for the joker's activity. Throughout the morning truck after truck drove up to the women's offices bringing all manner of merchandise ranging from a piano to a lot of coal. The truck drivers all had orders written on the printed forms of the Women's Social and Political Union and they refused to leave until the police threatened to arrest them and send their carts and wagons to the pound.

Two other suffragettes were sent to prison for a month for breaking windows at the home office. The women stated that they had adopted this method of protesting against the illegal arrest of the would-be petitioners.

Washington Police on the Defensive in Inquiry Now in Progress Before Senate Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 11.—Investigation of the responsibility of the police for the disorders which attended the woman's suffrage parade on Monday, March 8, was continued today by the senate committee on inquiry with witnesses representing suffragettes and the police ready to continue testimony. It was the intent of the police witnesses to show that their efforts to preserve order were sincere, but they were handicapped by the immense crowd and lack of patrolmen. Witnesses for the suffragettes intended to prove that the police were opposed to the parade and did not attempt to protect the marchers against insult and danger.

Edward S. Droop, president of the Washington Board of Trade, was today first witness in the suffrage hearing. He declared that half an hour before the parade began he believed Pennsylvania avenue was clear.

Dr. James Mythen a clergyman of Baltimore who marched in the Maryland division said that the marchers were forced to walk in single file and that they were greeted all along the line by jeers and shouts and obscene remarks from the by-standers. He gave the numbers of several police officers who he said neglected to keep the crowds back. One officer to whom he complained told him to "go to hell."

Fire Marshal Thomas PurteLL of Madison and his assistant, J. T. Baker, today cleared up the mystery that has surrounded the various blazes which have puzzled the local fire department since last fall, when they obtained a full confession from Percy Merrill that he had set the fires mentioned, evidently while under the influence of liquor on each occasion.

Merrill's confession gives the dates of each fire and was obtained after close questioning by Mr. PurteLL and Mr. Baker. He admitted all the fires under suspicion, including the Grundy and Welch warehouses, the Sadler harness factory, the blaze in the Bostwick building on the Court street bridge and others.

That Merrill is mentally unsound in mind is evident by his actions and it is expected that he will be taken before court immediately and examined as to his sanity. He admits having used intoxicating liquors to excess for some time past and this is believed to have been the cause for his action.

The statement was taken down by Mr. Baker and sworn to and signed by Merrill. Later District Attorney Dunwiddie talked with Merrill.

Judge Sale was consulted and appointed Drs. Van Kirk and Sutherland to examine into his sanity.

AUSTRIA TO PREVENT

Serbia to Send Troops to Assist the Montenegrans.

Belgrade, Serbia, March 11.—The Austrian government today took a step regarded as equivalent to forbidding Serbia to send troops to assist the Montenegrans in capturing the Turkish fortress of Scutari.

The fortress of Scutari, near the Montenegrin frontier, has been besieged by the Montenegrans without material success since the beginning of the Balkan war. Its capture and inclusion in the kingdom of Montenegro were the chief reasons for King Nicholas joining in the hostilities.

The Austrian minister to Serbia, Baron von Ugron Von Abransbach, informed Premier Pasich that his government objected to Serbian troops assisting in the siege of Scutari which was to become the capital of Albania. He requested the immediate recall of any Serbian troops which had been dispatched there. The Serbian premier in reply pointed out that under treaty arrangements Serbia was compelled to assist her allies without regard to the future of Scutari.

The situation is regarded as extremely delicate. Feeling here is at a high pitch over the attitude taken by Austria.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 11.—Another short session of the senate today to receive and act on appointments made by President Wilson brought a full in the activity of democratic and republican steering committees which had resumed work on the preparation of the new senate committee. Republicans practically had complete their committee assignments but the democratic managers were far from through with their task.

Opposition to the confirmation of Dr. C. P. Neill, re-appointed by President Wilson as commissioner of labor statistics, has developed among southern democratic senators and threatened today to be the first serious obstacle encountered by the new president in his dealings with the senate.

Senators Tillman of South Carolina and Overman of North Carolina opposed Dr. Neill's re-appointment because of a report he had made in 1911 upon conditions of labor, and the character of women and child labor in the southern cotton manufacturing states.

The senate session began today at two o'clock and no business was in sight, but the consideration of appointments.

Series of Conferences.
President Wilson had a busy two hours today before his meeting with the cabinet. Secretary Garrison of the war department was on hand as soon as the president stepped into his private office at nine o'clock. From ten o'clock on the president had a series of short conferences.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma was first on the list of callers. Senators Stone, Lodge and Smoot, the latter being the first republican leaders to call, had an engagement immediately after. The president arranged to receive this afternoon the judges of the United States court of customs appeals, the United States commercial court, and the court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

Secretary Garrison's conference with President Wilson was to discuss many questions affecting the Philippine Islands. Although the secretary did not wish to state the president's position in regard to Philippine independence, the impression about the White House today was that the subject would not be taken up at this special session of congress, but would be left over until December.

On Porto Rican Policy.
National Committeeman H. W. Dooley of Porto Rico called to ask about the administration's policy of Porto Rico.

"We are after a large measure of home rule for Porto Rico," he said, and intimated that he would have further conferences with the president and Secretary Garrison. The president recently favored the idea of granting citizenship to Porto Ricans. Beekman Withrop, assistant secretary of the navy, went to the White House today with Secretary Daniels and said goodbye to President Wilson. The nomination of his successor, State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, is expected to go to the senate today.

P. A. Stoval of Savannah, Georgia, is being urged for a diplomatic post. It has been considered likely that he would go to Switzerland. Justice J. W. Girard of New York continues to be prominently mentioned for an ambassadorship.

Both senators from Tennessee and the entire Tennessee congressional delegation have endorsed former Governor Benton McMillan for a diplomatic post.

The policy of the Wilson administration toward the Central and South American republics, which came within the meaning of the Monroe doctrine, has been decided upon by the president and Secretary Bryan and will be announced from a statement in the White House early today. The administration's policy toward South America was understood to have been discussed at today's cabinet meeting. The statement is being prepared by the president himself.

Postmaster General Burleson, who remained with the president for some time after the cabinet met, later gave his opinion of Mr. Taft's record, placing 35,000 third and fourth class post-offices in the classified service.

TOWNSHIP COMPANY WILL BE DISSOLVED

State Law Causes Death of Town of Turtle Fire Insurance Company.—Receiver for American Union.

Notices mailed to members of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of the town of Turtle, announce that the company will be dissolved on April 8. The state law which requires that every insurance company shall have a minimum of 200 policies in force is responsible for the death of the township organization which has been doing business for forty years past. It is stated that the Turtle company has over $300,000 in insurance in effect at the present time but has but 132 policies. Since it was first created the company has had fifty-six and one-half mills in assessments.

The officers of the company are: President—Charles McGaughlin. Secretary—Treasurer and Agent—C. W. Shimeall. Directors—Charles McGaughlin, W. J. Lathers, G. H. Crosby, C. W. Shimeall, H. E. Gattis.

The announcement made this morning that the American Union Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia had made application for a receiver, will be of interest to many Janesville residents who hold policies in that company. The company has had an agent in this city for a number of years.

The petition was made by the stockholders without the knowledge of the state insurance commission which had been investigating the company. The company's assets are placed at $1,019,854 and liabilities $970,998 to which is to be added $169,000 in unpaid loans. There are outstanding policies for $800,000 and $400,000 said to have been advanced by James F. Stone, former president of the company, to agents.

Directors of the company yesterday tried to raise the $200,000 required by the insurance commissioners so that the company could continue business. It was said that $180,000 were raised but that $20,000 were lacking.

HAVE LARGER FORCE AT WORK ON BRIDGE

With Best Equipment of Modern Machinery Work Will Now Be Rushed.

The force of workmen employed in constructing the new railroad bridge over Rock river, has recently been enlarged and the work is rapidly progressing with the advent of favorable weather. The two original piers have been built up and the forms removed, leaving a solid foundation of cement. The workmen are well equipped with the most modern machinery and the work is being accomplished with unusual speed. A large elevator has been built to convey the cement from the mixing machine to the top of the bridge. Large buckets convey the mixed cement up the elevator where it is dumped into chutes and transferred by gravity to the place where it is wanted. The coffer dam extends down into the river bed about twenty feet and cement is then dumped into the enclosure to a depth of about eight feet and the water pumped out. The cement is then sent down to the bottom of the foundation by means of pipes varying in length from eight to sixteen feet.

One of the coffer dams is expected to be filled today and preliminary work has been started for the filling of the other two dams. Two tracks have been laid to carry the cement from the elevator to the other forms because it is too far to convey the material by chutes. The work is very interesting and it is an excellent example of the modern way of structure building.

ROCK RIVER IS RISING AS RESULT OF FRESHETS

Now Fourteen Inches Over Government Mark at Upper Dam—Ice May Go Out Very Soon.

Rock river has risen to fourteen inches over the government mark at the upper dam in consequence of the heavy thaws in its watershed. It did not rise perceptibly last night, but this is believed to be due to obstructions to the flow as the flood-water from the upper tributaries has not had time to reach this point. A few warm days would be sufficient to cause the ice to go out as it is already showing signs of disintegrating.

The past winter has been the best for water power in this city that has been experienced for many years. The Janesville Electric company did not find it necessary to use any steam power in carrying the day load and very little for the night load. The big 500 kilowatt steam turbine generating set has scarcely been called upon to carry a load. Since the first of the year the Janesville street railway has been paying meter rates for current used. Heretofore it paid flat rates. The big electric track sweeper requires a large amount of power and the load on the street railway circuit is almost doubled when it is in operation.

RESIDENT OF LINE CITY GOT LOST IN JANESVILLE

William DeGroff of Beloit, Found by Police and Now Knows Where He is At.—Old Offenders Jailed.

Janesville streets, or more likely Janesville ardent spirits, proved too much for William DeGroff of Beloit, who, after prowling around the houses near the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Hickory street, sat down to take his night's rest, sleeping with his back against a stable door. The police

BULGARIAN COLORS IN AFTERNOON GOWN

Bulgarian use of raw color is shown in this afternoon gown, designed by Bonnard of Paris. The material is of fine color, with stripes of old red, forming a striking and harmonious effect. The belt is of grey suede leather; the guimpe, of embroidered linen. This gown will be especially suitable for the early spring.

lice were notified by nervous householders and after DeGroff was found he was removed to the police station. This morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was sent to jail for seven days. DeGroff is twenty-nine years of age, but appears to be much younger.

"Baldy" Jackson and Hugh Stockman, old offenders, were each sent to jail for fifteen days as they were unable to pay fines of $10 and costs each.

Superstitious Burglars.

BOSTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL COMMENCES THIRD CENTURY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Boston, Mass., March 11.—The Eliot grammar school of Boston held exercises in celebration of the rounding out of the second century of its existence. The school was founded on March 11, 1712, when the sturdy fathers of colonial Boston voted to establish a school at the north end of the town to accommodate the growing population in that section. One year later the little edifice was completed and its doors thrown open to the first scholars. The school is the oldest elementary school in the city and the second oldest free school of any kind.

The original building lasted through the period of the Revolution and was not torn down until 1792. The second building lasted until 1837 and the third persisted until 1860, when the present edifice was erected. All have occupied the same site, which is within a stone's throw of Christ's church where Paul Revere's lanterns were hung. Many famous men received their elementary education at the old Eliot school, among them Edward Everett, the famous statesman and orator, and Rev. Samuel S. Smith, author of "America." The past quarter of a century has seen great changes in the section of the city where the school is located, and today ninety per cent of the pupils are the children of Italian and Jewish immigrants.

Charge a Heavy One. In the session of a court devoted to hearing divorce cases the judge got around to one in which a negress was the complainant. "What is the charge?" was the opening formality. "Thirty-five dollars," answered the aggrieved party.

"Honest John" Cunningham

It is a pleasure to know that the people of Rock County have the opportunity to vote for such a man for county judge as John Cunningham of Janesville, president of the Rock County Bar Association. Should he be elected on April 1 the county may know that it has selected a worthy successor to Judge Sale, who has held the office so long and so honorably and who has declined to run for re-election.

Mr. Cunningham is not a man untried or unfamiliar with the duties of the office he has consented to seek. During the past 24 years he has practiced law in Rock County. He is now just past 50. During his 24 years as an attorney he has won the respect of the bar and the bench, as well as that of all who have entrusted their legal affairs to his keeping.

Especially in the county court has Mr. Cunningham's business been large and increasing. His share of the probate business of the county has been liberal and his reputation for fair dealing has been such that it has won for him new clients in this class of work. Through his large practice in the court he has become thoroughly familiar with how that institution is conducted, information which would be valuable to him if he were elected county judge.

The office of county judge is an important one to the people of Rock county. Hundreds of estates are settled in this court each year. The judge who passes on them should be a man familiar with the usages of the court, a man whose reputation for integrity and square dealing is the highest. Such a man is "Honest John" Cunningham and voters will make no mistake in casting their ballots for him on April 1.

KING AMONG SILOS To Prospective Buyers

We wish to call your attention to the Cement Stave Silo which has been in use over 12 years. It has been found to be a big success for the keeping qualities of ensilage and for durability. Its merits are surprising to those who investigate it. It is absolutely air tight—water tight—and durable which are the three best qualities of a first-class silo. Size of stave 2 1/2 in. thick, 10 in. wide and 30 in. long. Cement 1 to 3 which makes a strong stave. The Cement stave is also used for water tanks. Last year Seven

Cement Stave Silos were erected and filled near Clinton, Wisconsin, and are giving the best of satisfaction. Around Elgin, Ill., more than one hundred Cement Stave Silos were erected by farmers last year, and giving excellent results. It is one of the leading silos. ## Sport Snap Shots

by Dad McCarty

It is to be noticed that the sporting pages already are printing prognostications of the minor-league resting places of numerous hopeful recruits; also, that there is a great debate on as to which of sixteen teams look best qualified to win the pennants in the American and National leagues. Evidently, the great national sport is with us again.

A news item announces the death of Michael Driscoll, who, the notice says, "was catcher for the St. Louis Browns when the team was four times a pennant-winner." Will the young gentleman at the end of the front row please speak up quickly and tell us without hesitation when the Browns were a four-time pennant-winner? No? Well, you see, Driscoll died in 1895, so that no one of the present generation could be expected to remember about Mike's championship experiences. This is not an ancient history class.

University of Pennsylvania rooters like their football team. Hence, an obliging management has scheduled only one game from home, that on November 15, when Pennsy plays Michigan at Ann Arbor. We've heard of some tennis to which a reverse state of affairs would be useful. No name need be mentioned. Let the shoe fit whom it will.

Maybe Dave Altizer, who has seen experience in the American and National Leagues as well as with the Minneapolis team of the American Association, where he now is, besides numerous other spots not so distinct, will be less outspoken after this in regard to his past life.

CLEVER OUTFIELDER IS BACK IN HARNESS

Harry Walter.

Madagascar Frank Chance of the New York Highlanders is reported to be highly pleased with the return to form shown by Harry Walter in spring training at Bermuda.
It will be remembered that this startling outfielder broke his leg early last season, the first of a series of mishaps which tended to keep the Yankees in last place.
The leg now is perfectly mended, and Walter is said to show all his old-time speed.

Arthur Fletcher of the New York Giants is having a hard time winning back his old place as regular shortstop.

Art Shafer, substitute shortstop last season, is making a great bid for the position in training camp at Marlin, Texas. Both Fletcher and Shafer are fielding so brilliantly and batting so hard that Manager McGraw almost wishes his whole infield was made of shortstops.

INDIAN TWIRLER HAS UNUSUAL PROSPECTS

George Johnson.

"Big Chief" George Johnson, the Winnebago Indian pitcher with the Irish name, has excellent prospects of catching on as a regular with the Chicago White Sox. Of excellent physique, well adapted to stand the brunt of a big league campaign, he has great speed, a good assortment of curves, a splendid under fair control, a deceptive change of pace, and a fair assortment of unusual brains. He spent two seasons with Livonia and one each with Sioux City and St. Joseph, all Western league clubs. With the latter team he won 23 games and lost 19 in 1912.

The barometer depression that was in the South yesterday is now on the middle Atlantic coast, and has been attended by rainfall well distributed throughout the Eastern and Middle States.

An area of high barometer, of no great strength now occupies the Mississippi valley, and is attended by fair weather in the Southwest, but by cloudy or foggy weather in the Mississippi valley itself.
An area of low barometer is forming in the Plateau region, of such extent and intensity as to promise bad weather on the Plains and in the Northern states during the next few days. It is attended by light snow in the northern Rockies, and by light rains on the North Pacific coast.

THREE CENTURIES.

Three centuries of Romanoff rule have just been completed in Russia. It was three hundred years ago that the first prince of this house came to the Russians and assumed the reins of government. He found it a small, weak and backward nation. Today it is a world power with millions of subjects and thousands of armed guards, reaching from the east to the west across the wide plains of northern Europe and Asia alike.

Even in America, this period does not seem impressively long. The first settlements were made in Virginia a little longer ago. New York is almost as old as the Romanoff dynasty. Massachusetts will complete three centuries less than nine years from now. Columbus had discovered America 121 years when the reigning family of Russia gained royal power.

The truth is that Russia is still, in many respects, young and crude. It is largely a land of frontier conditions, not only in Asia but in some parts of the European dominions of the Czars. It is a commonplace that Russian resources remain in large measure unexplored, not to say unimproved, and there are vast possibilities of change in the whole Russian empire.

But this is not the work of the Romanoffs. That family has given the Muscovite nation several strong rulers, and two or three have been remarkably endowed with the great gift, rarely vouchsafed to despots, of perceiving and acting upon the national need of development along unusual lines. On the other hand many of the Romanoff princes have been weak, dissolute, wasteful, tyrannical and reactionary in the extreme. They have written many black pages of their country's history, and although the blood of the reigning house is now almost wholly German, through many marriages, they have been typically Russian in spirit and methods. It is a trite saying that Russia, in government as well as in numerous customs, is half oriental.

The first of the Romanoff emperors was elected by the nobles and churchmen of his country. The last of the line, whether the reigning czar or driven from power not by the nobility and gentry of the empire, but by the people.

THE STATE FAIR.

The state board of agriculture is having a fight for its very existence during the present legislative session. This board has so long been a political organization, men being appointed for political reasons rather than fitness for the positions, that the people of the state are ready to take some radical action. Aside from that there has been a petty fight on among the members of the board themselves and this has not added to the situation one jot or tittle. Residents of various inland cities have tired of the inconveniences which must be encountered by visitors to the fair in going to and from the city of Milwaukee to the grounds, and the exorbitant charges made state fair visitors for accommodations in the city, and would take the location of the fair away from Milwaukee. Now comes Assemblyman Rosa of Beloit with a plan to do away with the board itself and establish a commission of three men to handle the whole business. Mr. Rosa knows something about the workings of the board, the petty differences that have arisen, and perhaps when his bill comes up for consideration the state may learn some interesting facts. At any rate it will not hurt to air the whole proceeding and permit the public to know why certain men have been chosen for political purposes and able men taken from the board for the same reason.

A WORTHY MEASURE.

That the present legislature will make some important changes in the law relative to the commission form of government for cities is most certain as the law as it now stands is far from perfect. Recently the pros and cons of the recall provisions were heard before a senate committee and the decision will be waited with impatience by both the friends and opponents of the measure. The Oskosh Northwestern calls attention to another measure that is being considered and comments on the present law in the following manner: "The one weak feature of the Wisconsin commission government plan seems to be the failure to regularly advertise the proceedings of the city council operating under this system. A monthly statement is compiled and published in pamphlet form, it is true, but few of these reach the general public. A better plan, because it would give wider publicity to the council proceedings and the status of public business, would be to publish these statements in the newspapers, and this is the object of a bill now pending before the state legislature. The citizens of commission-governed cities will readily agree that this bill should be passed by the legislature, as offering an improvement to the present plan."

BULL-HEADEDNESS.

Several years ago a Mr. Emery, who appears to be authority on the question of pure foods for the state of Wisconsin, put a ban on the advertisement and sale of Karo corn syrup in the state. He wanted it called glucose and not corn syrup. He does not say the product is harmful, but that is a misnomer and consequently cannot be admitted to the state. By this arbitrary action and the subsequent fight he has waged upon many products that he admits are not injurious, Mr. Emery has deprived Wisconsin of many harmless articles of food for which there is a demand. His ruling does not prevent the persons desiring them from ordering them from wholesale houses outside the state, but refuses to grant the local retail grocer the privilege of making his legitimate profit. A bill is before the legislature at present to admit this product but doubtless it will be defeated, Mr. Emery being too obtuse to listen to reason and making a stand on the question owing to his previous ruling. Meanwhile the people are the sufferers in the great cause of "bull-headedness."

While there is no great excitement at the coming election over the choice for supervisors or school commissioners, voters should not forget that they will vote on the question of a successor to Judge Sale in the probate court and with the four men in the field for the office, they will have ample opportunity to select the best man for the position.

There are numerous excise bills before the legislature for consideration that the tax payers of the state should be interested in and it is hoped that care will be taken by the members of both houses in Madison not to kill the wrong measures when they come up for a vote.

How about band concerts during the coming summer? Janesville has two bands now and concerts summer evenings have always been thoroughly enjoyed by the people. It is not too early to start the agitation at any rate.

Failure to register will cause serious inconvenience at the April election. Every citizen should see that his name is properly entered on the poll books at the time set aside for this purpose.

It looks as though Clark and Underwood are going to have something to say after all relative to federal patronage and perhaps Bryan may not be the ultimate court of justice after all.

Now the Mid-Winter Fair is over the next big show is the Auto Exhibit and it should be a success if the number of car owners in Janesville is any criterion as to the interest displayed in this kind of vehicle.

And so the teachers in the suffrage parade felt insulted when the crowd counted to ten! They sometimes count higher than that at the ball park.

The Turks have shot fifty mutinous Arab soldiers as a lesson to the rest. Evidently the Arab is considered a dull student.

And now, right on top of the demand from Europe that he bring Mexico to order, comes the Easter bonnet season for President Wilson.

FORMER NAVAL ENGINEER PETITIONS FOR DIVORCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Farmington, Me., March 11.—The divorce suit instituted by James W. G. Walker, formerly civil engineer in the navy and son of the late Rear Admiral James G. Walker, against his wife, who is well known in society in Washington and Newport, came up for hearing today in the superior court at Paris, this county.

The troubles of the Walkers have been in the courts for several years. In 1909 Mrs. Walker petitioned in Newport for a separation. Her husband said he lived in Washington. The petition was thrown out of court on the question of jurisdiction. Mrs. Walker then obtained residence in Newport and again asked for separation. Her plea was granted on April 25, 1911. Subsequently Mr. Walker was granted a new trial on the ground that he had discovered new evidence.

SETTLEMENT OF THE FOREST RESERVES MADE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., March 11.—Data concerning the degree of settlement in the forest reserve area in northern Wisconsin have been gathered by the head ranger in the reserve. In the opinion of State Forester Griffith, the findings refute the charges that many settlers are virtually crowded out of their agricultural holdings because of the state's forestry policy. The information received from the chief ranger is that there are but fourteen settlers in seventeen townships comprising the most heavily timbered sections in the forest reserve in Vilas and Oneida counties. In other words, according to these findings, there are fourteen settlers in 330,000 acres. The state board of forestry holds that most of these lands are more fit for forest reserve purposes than for agriculture, and its policy of conservation is based on this view.

SENATOR TEASDALE IS CHIEFEST OF THE SENATORS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 11.—Senator Howard Teasdale, the Sparta colon, is in many respects the busiest member of the upper house. He has introduced upwards of fifty bills, and when the hearings are on during the afternoons he finds the days are not half long enough if he would attend the hearings on all his bills. The other day he arrived at the finance committee's room a half hour late to argue for his bill taxing telephone companies.

"How do you find time to get around for the hearings on all your bills?" asked Assemblyman Roessler.

"Well, it does keep me busy. The committees simply have to wait until I can get around," replied Teasdale.

NAMES A TRIAL DATE IN THE BELDEN CASE

JUDGE GRIMM APPOINTS J. J. CUNNINGHAM COUNSEL FOR DEFENSE AND SETS THE TRIAL FOR MONDAY.

JURORS ALL AT WORK

Most Unusual Situation Arises When Three Jurors Requiring Entire Panel Are Employed on Cases at Same Time.

Judge Grimm has appointed Attorney J. J. Cunningham to defend Louis Belden, who is held in the county jail charged with second degree murder in the case of the death of Edward P. Ryan and order counsel to be prepared for trial in the circuit court on Monday afternoon, March 17, at two o'clock.

It is understood that the defendant is anxious for a speedy trial and does not wish a delay until the May term of court. Owing to the pressure of other business District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie may possibly ask for a continuance, but as the case will be a short one it is more than probable that arrangements can be made for a trial at the present term of court.

With the exception of the Belden case there remain but two other actions for trial before the jury. It was expected that the case of A. C. James et al against Elsie Winkley Schmidt et al, would be disposed tomorrow, and a jury will be drawn late today in the damage suit of Richard Finley against the St. Paul road, the case to be tried next week.

Every juror on the present panel was employed on cases this morning. The jury in the assault and battery case of Boechus vs. Robinson was considering a verdict, a second jury which was drawn yesterday, afternoon was on its way to Evansville where they were to view property to be condemned for street purposes, and the remaining ten men, the panel being two jurors, were engaged on the replay suit Emil C. Schmidt vs. Chas. Qualman et al, both Beloit parties. The situation was a most unusual one and has not been duplicated within the memory of the present court officials.

After a deliberation of over three hours the jury in the assault and battery case of Chas. Boechus against William Robinson returned a verdict for the plaintiff and assessed his damages at one dollar. The jury reported at three o'clock this afternoon. Attorney Dougherty for the defense stated in addressing the jury that the action should have ended in the barnyard where it began.

The court was still busy with the testimony in the Beloit replay case this afternoon. The action was brought by the plaintiff, Schmidt, to recover damages alleged to be due as the result of an attachment against five pianos. $125 is the amount sought. It was expected that the case would go to the jury late today. The jury from Evansville was due to arrive at three o'clock and would make their report as soon as an opportunity offered.

FINE WEATHER HELPS ALONG REGISTRATION

Not One Half of Voters at Last Election Had Registered by Late This Afternoon—Few Women.

Fine weather today helped along the registration but not more than one half of those who voted at the last general election had registered at three o'clock this afternoon, which means that there will have to be an exceptionally heavy registration on March 25, or a large proportion of citizens will have to swear in their votes on election day. Approximately 1030 had registered by 2:00 o'clock.

Registration in the Third Ward was the heaviest, reaching about 500 at the hour named. The Fourth Ward was next highest with 265, the First with 220, the Second with 125, and the Fifth lowest with 120.

Few women have registered thus far. Nearly half of the total number who visited the polling booths for this purpose—12 had registered in the Third Ward before noon. None had registered in the Fifth Ward, one in the Second, five in the Fourth and four in the Fifth. It does not appear that even a small proportion of the teachers of the city care to exercise their right to vote for school commissioners and county and state superintendent of schools.

Perhaps the oldest man to register and the oldest who will vote at the coming election is Dr. William Horn, ninety-two years of age, who was registered at the Third Ward booth this morning. His home is just opposite the polling booth in the public library.

Not a few men who have lived in the city many years, some of them from infancy, and who have voted ever since they reached their majority, will be unable to vote this spring because they or their fathers never had taken out their second citizenship papers. The Clerk of the Circuit Court was busy this morning answering telephone calls from the polling places, inquiries being made as to whether different applications for registration were fully fledged citizens. In some instances it was found that the applicants were mistaken, having mistaken the process of swearing in their vote with two tax-payers as witnesses for the initiation into citizenship.

Parcel Post Maps Free with a year's subscription to the Daily Gazette. Value of the map, $1.00. They are on sale at Baker's Drug Store and Gazette office to Gazette patrons, also at 25c, or 35c by mail.

Adjourned Meeting: The city council held a brief adjourned meeting this afternoon. Little business was expected to come up for consideration as it was decided to bring up the matter of letting bids for oil and an oil distributor go over to a later meeting. City Engineer C. V. Kerch will probably make a test of the samples

Initial Salary Raised from $600 to $800 Per Year—Provides Better Chance for Promotion.

Initial salaries of new mail clerks and mail carriers are raised from $600 to $800 by the postoffice appropriation bill, the provisions of which have been made known to the Janesville postoffice. At the present time clerks and carriers are obliged to start in at $600 a year, which salary is not raised until they have been in service one full year. This provision made it difficult to keep good available substitutes on the eligible list and was a hardship for many employees. According to the new law, which goes into effect, the salary is increased to $800 the third year, and so on up to the limit for the different classes of postoffices.

Another feature of the new appropriation bill is that increasing the pay of substitute clerks and carriers from thirty to forty cents an hour. Substitutes are required to hold themselves ready for duty at all times and this intermittent service makes it difficult for them to hold positions in other kinds of work.

Promotions are made easier by the bill. Heretofore fifty per cent of the clerks were subject to annual promotion or salary increases, while the new law fixes the percentage at seventy-five. Then thousand dollars is appropriated for rewards for inventions by postal employees.

ODD FELLOWS' LODGE NOTES ANNIVERSARY

Wisconsin Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 14 Enjoyed Interesting Program at Hall Last Evening.

With an entertaining program of addresses, music, and readings, the members of Wisconsin Lodge No. 14 last night celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of the founding of their lodge at East Side Odd Fellows' hall. The attendance of members was nearly complete, there being close to two hundred present. After a roll call the Odd Fellows' quartet opened the program with a pleasing vocal number. Those composing the quartet were Robert Clithero, J. S. Taylor, E. O. Smith and George Hatch. An inspiring address on "Odd Fellowship" was given by the Rev. J. W. Laughlin, and S. C. Burnham recounted the history of the lodge, illuminating it with sketches of some of its earlier members. Other numbers on the program were a piano solo by Miss Clara Schwartz, a vocal solo by Mrs. Charles Mohr, a reading by Mrs. Janet B. Day, a violin duet by Messrs. Clithero and McCarthy, and vocal solos by William Miller and Robert Clithero.

MALES IN MAJORITY THROUGHOUT STATE

Advance Report of the Census Bureau Shows Wisconsin Figures.

The composition and characteristics of the population of Wisconsin, as reported at the Thirtieth Decennial Census, are given in an advance bulletin soon to be issued, by Director Durand of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor. It was prepared under the supervision of Wm. C. Hunt, chief statistician for population. Statistics of color, nativity, parentage, sex, state of birth, citizenship, age, literacy, school attendance, marital condition, and dwellings and families are presented. They are grouped as follows: For the state and counties; for citizens of more than 25,000; for cities of 10,000 to 25,000; for places of 2,500 to 10,000; and for wards of Milwaukee. A previous population bulletin for Wisconsin gave the number of inhabitants by counties and minor civil divisions decennial increase and density of population, and the proportions urban and rural. That and the forthcoming bulletin cover all the principal topics of the population census except occupations and membership of homes.

Color and Nativity. The white population is divided into four groups: (1) Native, native parentage—that is, having both parents born in the United States; (2) native, foreign parentage—having both parents born abroad; (3) native, mixed parentage—having one parent native and the other foreign born; (4) foreign born.

Of the total population of Wisconsin, 725,225, or 92.7 per cent, are native whites of native parentage; 1,471,471, or 4.7 per cent, are native whites of foreign or mixed parentage; and 512,568, or 22 per cent, are foreign born whites. The corresponding percentages in 1900 were 28.3, 46.9, respectively. The proportion of native whites of native parentage having increased somewhat during the decade. In only 2 of the 71 counties is the percentage of foreign-born whites less than 10. In 7 it is between 10 and 15, in 48 between 15 and 20, in 12 between 20 and 25, and in 2 it exceeds 25. The percentage of native whites of foreign or mixed parentage ranges generally higher, exceeding 35 in 63 counties.

Of the urban population, 28.5 per cent are native whites of native parentage; of the rural 25.9 per cent. The corresponding percentages for native whites of foreign or mixed parentage are 45.7 and 44.1 per cent, respectively. The percentage of foreign-born whites is 25.5 in the urban population and 19.3 in the rural. The Indians appear almost exclusively in the rural population, of which they constitute 0.7 per cent.

Sex. In the total population of the state there are 1,298,578 males and 1,125,228 females, or 107.4 males to 100 females. In 1900 the ratio was 106.6 to 100. Among native whites the ratio is 101.6; among foreign-born whites, 130.8 to 100. In the urban population there are 101.7 males to 100 females, and in the rural, 111.9.

State of Birth. Of the total native population—that is, population born in the United States—55.6 per cent were born in Wisconsin and 44.1 per cent outside the state, the proportions being the same for the native white population. Of the native negroes, 58.7 per cent were born outside the state; of the native Indians, 6.1 per cent. Persons born outside the state constitute a larger proportion of the native population in urban than in rural communities.

Foreign Nationalities. Of the foreign-born white population of Wisconsin, persons born in Germany represent 45.5 per cent; Norway, 11.1; Austria, 7.5; Russia, 5.8; Sweden, 5; Canada, 4.9; Denmark, 3.2; Ireland, 2.7; England, 2.7; all other countries, 11.6. Of the total white stock of foreign origin, which includes persons born abroad and also natives having one or both parents born abroad, Germany contributed 51 per cent; Norway, 10.1; Austria, 5.2; Canada, 5; Ireland, 4.8; Sweden, 3.6; England, 3.4; Russia, 2.9; Denmark, 2.5.

Voting and Militia Ages. The total number of males 21 years of age and over is 684,743, representing 29.3 per cent of the population. Of such males, 21.7 per cent are native whites of native parentage, 38.3 per cent native whites of foreign or mixed parentage, 39.4 per cent foreign-born whites, and 0.6 per cent are in other classes. Of the 269,237 foreign-born white males of voting age, 142,848, or 53.1 per cent, are naturalized. Males of militia age—18 to 44—number 497,922.

Age. Of the total population, 11 per cent are under 5 years of age, 21.1 per cent from 5 to 14 years, inclusive, 19.9 per cent from 15 to 24, 27.3 per cent from 25 to 44, and 20.5 per cent 45 years of age and over. The foreign-born white population comprises comparatively few children, only 3.6 per cent of this class being under 15 years of age, while 87.1 per cent are 25 years of age and over. Of the native whites of native parentage, 30.4 per cent are 25 years of age and over; of native whites of foreign or mixed parentage 41.3 per cent; of Indians, 42 per cent; and of negroes, 61.3 per cent.

The urban population shows a smaller proportion of children than the rural and a larger proportion of persons in the prime of life. Migration to the city explains this at least in part. Of the urban population, 30.9 per cent are from 25 to 44 years of age, inclusive, and of the rural, 25 per cent.

School Attendance. The census inquiry as to school attendance was merely as to whether the person enumerated had attended any kind of school at any time between September 1, 1909, and the date of enumeration, April 15, 1910.

The total number of persons of school age—that is, from 6 to 20 years inclusive—is 722,544, of whom 484,629 or 67.2 per cent, attended school. In addition to these, 22,237 children under 6, and 7,985 persons under 21 and over attended school. For boys from 6 to 20 years inclusive, the percentage attending school was 66; for girls, 62.3. For children from 6 to 14 years, inclusive, the percentage attending school was 87.1. The percentages for children of this age among native whites of native parentage was 90.8; among native whites of foreign or mixed parentage, 89.7; among foreign-born whites, 84.1; and among negroes 88.9. There is little difference between urban and rural communities as regards the percentage of school attendance for the ages from 6 to 14, but for persons from 15 to 20 the percentages were 27.3 in the urban population and 31.3 in the rural.

Literacy. The Census Bureau classifies as illiterate any person 10 years of age or over who is unable to write, regardless of ability to read. There are 57,769 illiterates in the state, representing 3.2 per cent of the total population 10 years of age and over, as compared with 4.7 per cent in 1900. The percentage of illiteracy is 33.7 among Indians, 8.7 among foreign-born whites, 4.5 among negroes and 0.9 among native whites.

For all classes combined, the percentage of illiteracy is slightly higher in rural than in urban communities, 3.3 as compared with 3. The rural percentage exceeds the urban for each class separately, except the foreign-born whites, most of whom arrive in this country when past the school age. Among them the percentage is the same in the urban as in the rural population.

For persons from 10 to 20 years of age, inclusive, whose literacy depends largely upon present school facilities and school attendance, the percentage of illiteracy is only 0.7.

Marital Condition. In the population 15 years of age and over, 41.4 per cent of the males are single and 32.6 per cent of the females. The percentage married is 55.6 for males and 57.7 for females, and the percentage widowed 4.2 and 9, respectively. The percentage of those reported as divorced, 0.5 and 0.6, respectively, are believed to be too small, because of the probability that many divorced persons class themselves as single or widowed.

That the percentage single is smaller for women than for men is due largely to the fact that women marry younger. Thus, 4.6 per cent of the females from 15 to 19 years of age are married, as compared with 0.3 per cent of the males, and 39.1 per cent of the females from 20 to 24 years are married, as compared with 14.4 per cent of the males. In the next two age groups, 25 to 34 and 35 to 44 years the difference is less marked, while among those 45 and over, the percentage married is higher among the males. That there is a larger proportion of widows than of widowers may indicate that men more often remarry than women but since husbands generally are older than their wives, the marriage relationship is broken more often by death of the husband than by death of the wife.

For the main elements of the population the percentages of married persons among those 15 years of age and over are as follows: Foreign-born whites, 68.2 for males and 71.8 for females; native whites of foreign or mixed parentage, 46.8 and 54, respectively; native whites of native parentage, 45.1 and 48.3; Indians, 53.2 and 63.1; negroes, 45.6 and 50.

These percentages by no means indicate tendency of the several classes as regards marriage. To determine that, the comparison should be made by age periods, since the proportion married in any class is determined largely by the proportion who have reached the marrying age. Similarly the proportion widows depends largely on the proportion past middle life. The percentage married for males is somewhat higher in the urban population than in the rural; for females, it is higher in the rural.

Dwellings and Families. The total number of dwellings in Wisconsin is 462,355, and the total number of families 499,629, there being 308.1 families to each 100 dwellings. The average number of persons per dwelling is 5, and the average number per family, 4.7.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

Maud Muller. Maud Muller, on a summer's day, Raked the meadows, sweet with hay. A manager rode o'er the hill, A manager of vaudeville.

The finest raker she, I ween, That manager had ever seen. He watched her for a little while And openly admired her style.

He said a fortune she could make In vaudeville with her old rake. He made an offer then and there Unto this maiden passing fair.

She packed her suitcase, said goodby, And to the city she did hie. Her raking stunt upon the stage Quite soon became the howling rage.

Of course it was a patent fact That there was nothing to her act. But still they paid, quite strange to say, To see the maiden raking hay.

She made the thousands stare and gape, She simply got by on her shape. She owns a high power auto now; To spend her coin she knows not how.

This may sound very queer, but still, It is the way of vaudeville. According to Uncle Abner, Mrs. Anse Frisky has got a new vacuum cleaner and her husband says he thinks she must try it on his clothes while he is asleep, for he never has a cent when he wakes up.

Jed Frink's wife nearly shot him by mistake for a burglar the other night when he went home with his whiskers shaved off and tried to get in at the back door without being heard.

There never was a time in the history of the world when some fellow didn't think he was on the verge of making a fortune through the medium of a perpetual motion machine. Hank Tumms says the nearest thing to it that he knows of is his wife's brother's lower jaw. His wife's brother has been eating with him for nineteen years.

Grandpa Bibbins says of course it is a great thing to be in good spirit, but he would a blamed sight rather have the good spirits in him.

It seems as though an accountant ought to be a good man to select candidates for the musical comedy choruses, being an expert on figures.

We see by the papers that footpads are getting quite numerous down to New York. Uncle Ezra Harkins asked what they was and Hank Tumms said footpads was pads that fellers put on their feet so they could sneak in the house at night without walkin' up their wife. Uncle point of actual wrong with a French artist whom another injured husband has killed a few days before. The wife denies her guilt but the husband in a cold rage orders her to leave the house instantly, notifies her that he will divorce her, and tells the two children, in her presence, the reason for his action. The rage of the daughter is equal to that of the father and the two leave the room together, leaving the broken-hearted woman alone.

SPECIAL RETURN ENGAGEMENT.
Thos. W. Ross in "The Only Son."

Probability and plausibility are the two points which make for success in "The Only Son," the new play by Winchell Smith, author of "The Fortune Hunter" and "Brewster's Millions." In "The Only Son" Mr. Smith has written a play with a "punch" and with all the other things that plays nowadays are supposed to have.

LIZZIE HUDSON COLLIER AS THE MOTHER, WITH THOS. W. ROSS IN "THE ONLY SON," AT MYERS THEATRE, FRIDAY, MAR. 14.

In short, it is the simple story of a young man who stuck to his mother.

In the Brainard family Mr. Smith has created a group that one would not have to travel many blocks to find. The father and mother began life together with little or nothing and great wealth had come to them. Absorbed in business the father leaves the family to themselves, and the mother, youthful and pretty, falls into the silly, idle, flirtatious habits of the other women of her circle. The daughter is over-sophisticated, over-ambitious and hard as nails, and the son finds his only amusement in life in the pursuit of show girls. Into this family comes a grating detective with letters proving that the mother's silliness has reached the bing on a couch. But back to her comes the son, the careless, spoiled, supposedly vicious son, and bending over her says simply, "Well, mother, where'll we go?" So the son and the mother go away together, and the son, made into a man by stress that comes into his life, saves the threatened scandal, and by calling to the aid of the family doctor and working up a cough persuades every one to believe that he and his mother go to Denver for the sake of his health. There is a love theme interest in the play. The boy is in love with a girl artist but it is the devotion of the boy to his mother that makes the play. It will be at the Myers Theatre Friday evening, March 14, special return engagement.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

SERVICE.

There is but one true basis for either wealth or fame.

It is service.

Any wealth we gain for which we have not rendered an equivalent service is tainted.

Any fame we enjoy that has not been earned by service is false fame that will turn to dispraise.

The Greatest of the Great said he came not to be ministered unto, but to minister.

His life was one of service.

The old motto of the nobility was "Ich dien" (I serve).

The first meaning of service is that it is something we do for others.

He who does any useful work is benefiting others. It may be the raising of a crop that others may have food, they in turn paying an equivalent price.

Whether he recognizes it or not, his task is altruistic. He may think that he works only for the selfish reward, but as a matter of fact he feeds the hungry.

Perhaps his work is ministering to the sick. The vulgar idea is that the doctor works only for his fee. Yet no fee can measure the easing of pain, the saving of life. Whatever we may say of the doctor, he works for others.

The one who serves may be a writer. He entertains, comforts, instructs or inspires others. We may say that he does it only for the money or reputation it will bring him, yet that is but a small part of the truth. He is ministering to his fellow men.

Or he may be an artist, saying, as true artists do, that he does not work alone for what he may gain in return, but, rather, for the very work's sake.

Yet even this falls short of the whole truth. He is adding to the world's beauty and so is serving countless thousands in the highest way.

So it is throughout life. If we are worth our salt we are serving others. The reward we receive is but the sauce on the dish. The solid, substantial thing is the service we are rendering.

Moreover, our importance in the scheme of things depends on this service. It is the rock on which is builded the temple of our civilization.

One other point. The important thing is the service and not the reward.

The man who works from that end is the man who wins in a big way.

The absolute scientific basis of success is not how much I can get from others, but how much I can do for others.

story is an Old One.

"Dick Whittington" is one of the most puzzling of all London pantomime stories, in point of origin. Tradition says positively that it is a true story of a former lord mayor of London, and it certainly is true that a Richard Whittington did marry his master's daughter and become chief citizen, but instead of being a homeless boy he was the son of a knight, Sir Willia Whittington. Italy, Brittany, Norway and Russia all have practically the same tale. The story also appears in a book by a Persian author, written years before the real Whittington was born.

The Thank You.

The young man or woman in business who doesn't start out with a supply of thank yous to hand out to customers has not started in the right road to success. Courtesy can be made a habit, and courtesy of a fine, discriminating kind is what a great many salespeople need to make a deeper impression of customers. Thank yous cost nothing, and if said with a heartiness and good will, add much to the business transaction.—New Press.

ENGLISH FIGHTERS LAST LONGER THAN AMERICAN; OFTEN STICK FIFTEEN YEARS

A glance at the careers of American and English boxers shows that the pugs of John Bull's country last longer than do ours. It is no unusual thing for an Englishman to remain in the game fifteen years. Johnny Summers, present welterweight champion of Europe, and Owen Moran have had thirteen years of fighting and are still in fine trim. Jen Driscoll and Diego Stanley entered the ring in 1910. Freddie Welsh took up the sport in 1905, and could give Willie Ritchie a good argument today. The majority of our American boxers, on the other hand, are through after seven or eight years of the ring. But Nelson, who has been in the game 17 years, is the one shining exception.

Some Consolation.

We like a girl who looks on the bright side of things. Miss Murnford wished to console a friend of hers who had become engaged, somewhat against her own will, to a man with only one leg. "But think, my dear," said Miss M., "how soon you will be able to run him up a pair of slippers!"

Reversing the Order.

A bishop tells a story of a nervous curate who, in his announcement of the banns of marriage for two couples, made the mistake of declaring that the first couple were "for the first time of asking" and the second "for the third time of asking." Realizing his mistake only when he had finished, the curate nervously added: "And the first shall be last, and the last shall be first."

Nature's Gifts.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Nature is a bountiful provider. For this large family of hers, she sends hundreds of things, out of the life-giving earth, to supply our bodies with life, and perfect health. She intends us to eat them. The very large majority of people base their food supplies on what they have trained themselves to like, and not on the necessary food for building.

There are three necessary things and all of which are most generously supplied by nature. Food, air, and water.

Two of these, air and water, need no cooking nor seasoning, neither do we ever question it; all we do ask is that both are pure and plenty of it. We should take our food in the same manner. While some of this food requires cooking, much of it is far better eaten in its natural state, if we would remember that "Nature's Gifts," all

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used.

Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish once a month as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it before, then any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the quality. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from soot by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

words, correctly pronounced, enter through the sense of hearing, to the little one's mind. The second cause is the inability of the child to control the organs of speech. The infant easily says "Mam, mam, mam," and "Da, da, da," but cannot say "Pa," as in father, because to do so, he must use the lips against teeth, while of the latter he has none. Often as the child develops the little one should be shown just how new sounds are produced by using these newly acquired speech organs. When about six months old a careful observer will notice that the little one is beginning to use his hand palate in sound production. In the "Children's Houses," Madame Montessori has developed a series of exercises to teach the children to pronounce correctly and to strengthen the muscles used in such enunciation, which every mother could use to advantage with her own children. The third and the most universal cause of the child's bad speech habits is "baby talk." I beg of you mothers to give up this worse than useless form of entertainment for yourself and infant. If you ever attempted to learn a foreign language you must appreciate the difficulty encountered by a mother in teaching her child to speak. Don't make your child learn the English language twice. Neither is it wise procedure to allow the little one to continue in the mispronunciation of words, simply because it is cunning. There have come to my personal attention cases where older children have been extremely mortified upon learning that they have not been "properly" taught to speak correctly. You know how you would feel yourself, grown-up, if there is a good place to apply the golden rule.

Our Bread. Our bread is wrapped in sanitary wrappers. It is not paved over by dirty fingers. Five have to look elsewhere for a meal. Why have bread clean in the first place if you don't keep it clean?

No Food Fraud. This is a pure food store. It won't tolerate any food fraud or deception. The drugs, dyes and flavors which politicians have whitewashed cannot get in here, though they are legal. Politics and health laws don't so any better than ice cream and beer.

Polished Rice. Polished rice won't do as much harm as whiskey, but it won't do you the good that rice was designed to do. You know. And if the rice polisher knows more about what rice ought to be than the Almighty who made it, he is a cheat.

White Bread and White Bread. White bread often made from all the wheat, nothing added and nothing taken away, will put life and red blood into the child. White bread made from unbleached flour, baked in the home belongs in this same class. God put twelve vitalizing salts into the wheat. Man takes eight of them out in order to make flour white, (housekeepers are responsible for their demand it) and the wonders why there are so many false teeth.

Grape Juice. The juice of the grapes comes from nature. It is one of the soft drinks we are glad to sell. Our other soft drinks are all right, too, because we don't have any. Grape juice does not need coal tar dye, coal tar flavors, or benzoate. Artificial concoctions do.

Meat. People forget that pea beans, marrow bones, red kidney beans, white navy beans, black turtle beans, yellow peas, white marrow peas, black putabagas and dentals contain more protein or tissue building material than roasts, steaks and chops. People forget that bean is beef, the pea is lamb and lentils is pork. And to this we will add "Nature's Gifts" which surely are on sale in the "Ideal Grocery Store," such as fresh lettuce, watercress, dandelions, spinach, celery, onion, carrots, parsnips, turnips, beets, potatoes, rice, cabbage, etc.

Nature wants us to eat oranges, lemons, grapefruit, apples and pineapples, figs, dates, bananas, plums, peaches, raspberries, strawberries, currants, grapes, etc., in their respective seasons or when put away for the winter in glass or lacquered cans.

Remember every one cannot eat the same food, as our lives and occupations are so different. But we should all know whether the one who has the profession of "Food Preparation" home knows their business to extent of proportioning foods in quantity, quality and combinations; in selection of foods under the most sanitary conditions, rejecting all foods put up with preservatives and finally know just what to cook, how to cook it and what to serve in its natural state without too many "fussy" mixtures. If this were done in twenty years we would have a solid, stocky, hardy race of American citizens.

The Welcome of a Wife

ONE of our greatest writers has said: "The sweetest thing in life is the unclouded welcome of a wife."

The sentiment finds a quick response in the heart of every true husband. Even if he has had a prosperous day and goes home with peace and happiness rejoining in his bosom, still the crown of the day is the welcome of his wife. If things have gone wrong and he is bitter and disappointed, what soothing in her welcome! If he is sick, how he longs for her welcoming arms. If he has done what he should not, still he longs for her forgiving welcome. The welcome of a wife means much to a man.

But if you notice, a most significant word stands like an angel with a flaming sword before that word "welcome," and in its light, how the meaning of that word broadens out. The unclouded welcome is the sweetest thing in life.

The welcome of a wife is sweet, however the day may have gone, but the unclouded welcome of a wife is the sweetest thing life has to offer.

And is this not true? For does it not mean that between the two there is not a single cloud, little or big, that their love and faith and trust in each other are without the veriest hint of doubt or misunderstanding. And is not such a love the sweetest thing in life, will it not make a happy day happier? Will it not take the sting out of disappointment and failure?

But to insure this unclouded welcome must not the man do his part? Can he expect this unclouded welcome, if his wife never knows whether he will come home in a fit of temper, in the sulks, or in a mood of fault-finding?

Can he expect this unclouded welcome, if his wife is listening with dread to discover if his step is steady?

Can he expect this unclouded welcome, if he does not return when he should; and his wife is sitting with numb misery at her heart wondering where he is?

And if he misses this unclouded welcome for any such reason, isn't he bringing away gold for dress?

It is worth pondering, this little sentence—

"The sweetest thing in life is the unclouded welcome of a wife."

And it is worth a husband's while to make sure that so far as he is concerned, not the slightest cloud shall arise to dull the brightness of that greeting.

PRICE VERSUS VALUE.

PRICE and value are not the same thing. No doubt that is entirely obvious to you, Reader Friend, but there are a great many people to whom it is not clear; a great many people who build their lives on the shifting sands of that characteristically twentieth century mistake.

Every article which we own, and buy, and sell has a price. Every article also has a value. Now, if you look up these two words in the dictionary you will find that price means a sum of money which anything is rated to be worth, whereas value means "the properties of a thing rendering it useful or desirable,"—in other words, its beauty, its durability, its fitness, its utility.

Surely the distinction is plain, and yet in these days of false ideals and confused standards it seems to me that three out of five people confuse these two words, or worse still, substitute price for value.

I happened to be standing in a furniture shop the other day near two young women who were buying a bureau. The choice had narrowed down to two pieces of furniture, one a simple affair following the old Colonial lines, the other much larger and of a florid design.

The price of the two articles was very nearly the same. After looking them over for some time, the purchaser finally turned to her companion and said, "Which looks as if it cost the most?" Her companion averred that the larger bureau had that appearance, and that settled it. Now it was perfectly evident that one of those bureaus must have been more suitable for her home than the other; it was painfully evident that the one rejected was a better built piece of furniture and had better lines. These were the considerations of value on which she should have based her choice. But she didn't care about value. What she wanted was price, or rather the appearance of price.

A frank young person was displaying some of the Christmas gifts she had purchased for her friends. "I hope they look as if they cost fifty cents," she said, "for that's what makes my Christmas shopping so long. Trying to get little things for a quarter that will look as if they cost fifty cents."

"Wouldn't it be better to simply try to get things that will please your friends, regardless of what they appear to cost?" asked her companion. But the young person couldn't see it that way. You see, she was one of those people who substitute price for value.

Another girl was dissatisfied with a beautiful fur which her father gave her for Christmas. "Because no one would know that it cost as much as it did," the fur was luxuriously warm and exquisitely beautiful; the value could scarcely have been improved, but just because she feared the price was not sufficiently evident, the fur was spoiled for this foolish young woman.

To care for things because they are beautiful or useful, or desirable in any real way, and not merely because they cost, or appear to cost a great deal of money, is the sign of a high order of intelligence. It is also a sign that its possessor will find it far easier to be happy than those who substitute price for value.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Muffins

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

When muffins are on the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat, eggs and they would be served more often if there were no time to make them. If K. C. the double-raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them.

One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded teaspoonfuls K. C. Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful salt; 1 cup sugar; 1 cup melted butter or oil; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk.

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add to this the melted egg, melted butter or oil, and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven sizzling hot when the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.

Graham Muffins

1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K. C. Baking Powder; 1 to 2 level tablespoonfuls sugar; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 1 1/2 cups milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins.

Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins.

To get 88 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K. C. Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illustrated. Jacques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

HOLD A CONFERENCE OF RURAL TEACHERS

Graduates of Training School Discuss Problems in Meeting Saturday—Training School Notes.

The class of 1912 of the training school met for the fourth time in the training school rooms last Saturday to confer with the county superintendent and the training school faculty concerning the problems of the rural school. Several classes of the school were conducted and these were visited by the young teachers. Dinner was served at the noon-hour by the members of the Junior class. The Juniors prepared the dinner and did all of the serving. A banquet table was spread and twenty sat down to enjoy the luncheon. Superintendent Antidell was present for several hours and gave the teachers many good, practical suggestions. It is felt that these conferences have been of great value, and the plan will be continued in the future. The difficulties met by the teacher in her own school are discussed and the combined experience and judgment are brought to bear in the solving of problems.

It is now planned that the class of 1912 will go out into the rural schools for observation and actual practice. Each member of the class will observe for one day in a country school and will then plan the work so as to teach the next day in the same school. The full responsibility for the success of the day's work will be placed upon the practice teacher. The teaching will be done in the presence of the regular teacher, who will report upon the work done.

The following country teachers were present at the conference on Saturday: Florence Nelson, Florence McKinnon, Rachael Ehringer, Ruth Henningsway, Alice Wilder, Hena Sands, Elsie Gooch, Cora Thorson, Emma Fossberg, Corinne Crandall, Alice Milbrandt, Ella Townsend, Eva Townsend, Nina Worthing, Jennie Dean and Grace Hadden.

Professor E. L. Roehle visited at the training school on Saturday.

The new class picture presented by the class of 1913 is now adorning the walls of the assembly room.

Principal Lowth visited country schools on Friday, taught respectively by Florence Nelson, Juliette Finnage, Hena Sands, Mary Fisher, and Lois Ramage. He is expecting to go into the field again this week.

The Alumni association is arranging for a banquet and program on commencement night, June 12. After the next commencement the Alumni association will comprise over thirty members.

Miss Jacobson is sending the country teachers various helpful suggestions in a mimeographed letter this week.

On Friday, March 21, the principal will address the mothers in a meeting at the school taught by Corinne Crandall.

Arice Smith was called home Saturday by the death of an uncle at Broadhead.

The schedule for Senior essays is posted on the bulletin board. Each Senior will also give one debate this year. It has been decided not to give a class play, owing to the pressure of the practice teaching and the other work.

The standard of the rhetorical work is being slowly raised both in the matter of composition and of delivery. There is no work of more importance than this.

Country teachers should take time to give some definite instruction in morals and manners. Opportunity to develop the moral judgment may be found in the reading class and the social relations of the school should involve the practice of the courtesies of life.

"Going over" subject matter is not teaching it. There needs to be careful instruction for the sake of knowledge, this to be followed by drill to fix facts in mind.

The country teacher has our sympathy. She is usually trying to do her duty and to live up to her light. Often she needs more light, and would welcome any assistance given in the right spirit. Too often she gets no help when she needs it most. The county superintendent is not to blame.

BACKACHE IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatism, and Serious Diseases Follow.

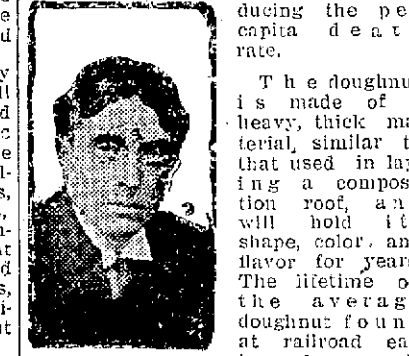

There are other symptoms, such as pains in the region of the kidneys, nervousness, dizziness, tired and worn-out feeling, weak bladder, painful, scanty, or urinary troubles, which are just as dangerous, for the slightest kidney derangement if neglected may develop into the deadly Bright's Disease, Dropsy, or Diabetes.

It is not only dangerous, but needless, for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely ends all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the permanent cure of all forms of kidney, bladder troubles, and rheumatism, than this new scientific preparation, because it removes the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the clogged-up, porous, neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid, and waste matter, that lodge in the joints and muscles, and cause those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys filter the poison from the blood and drives it out of the system.

Three doses of Croxone a day, for a few days is often all that is needed to cure the worst backache or overcome disagreeable urinary disorders, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure the worst case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else like it. It is impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price, if Croxone should fail in a single case.

2,000 years, but as traveling men usually inquire the age of each doughnut probably a fair average would be three score years and ten. No matter how old a doughnut is, it never becomes what you could call decrepit, but will resist all efforts to mollyfy it without using a hatchet.

Doughnuts are usually kept under glass case, so that the flavor will not be lost and creep into the plan. The bearing house doughnut is a deadly missile which is put on the table day after day from force of habit and also to add a touch of lightness to the table decorations. Once in a while some new boarder will approach one of these doughnuts in a spirit of reckless daring and hunt around for some vulnerable spot, but will finally back off with an apologetic cough and tuck the remains of the Sunday roast. The theft of a boarding house doughnut for the purpose of relieving hunger is strong presumptive evidence of hereditary insanity.

The hole in the doughnut is put there so that people can get a fresh hold when they wish to drain an enemy. Some women keep doughnuts in the house in lieu of a shotgun, and by using them judiciously are able to get considerable work out of tired husbands who have been on their feet all day playing pool. An indolent husband will sit around in his stocking feet by the hour and absorb all the reproaches his wife can think of but a stirring rebuke in the form of a resilient doughnut will start him in the direction of the wood box on the dead run.

GOVERNMENT MAKES MANY SUGGESTIONS

Gives Ideas to Farmers as to Grading, Testing and Shelling Seed Corn.

Take time by the forelock and get the seed corn and the corn planter ready for operation now, before the rush of the other spring work. The soil and the seed are two prime requisites of a profitable corn crop. At this time of the year there are many days when weather or soil conditions prevent plowing or other field work, that can profitably be used in improving the quality of the seed corn. The seed supply can be improved in quality and productiveness by discarding the poor ears and the poor kernels.

Objectionable Ears.

The best time to grade seed corn is before shelling. The office of corn investigations of the United States Department of Agriculture, through its careful field experiments that an ear having kernels of undesirable shapes produces ears most of which have kernels of undesirable shapes. Ears that are undesirable for one reason or another should be discarded before making germination tests.

Good Care Needed.

At this season for several years past a number of satisfactory means have been described for testing the germination of a few kernels from each seed ear. Those who have neglected to take good care of their seed corn may now find "dead" ears among their supply. In such cases it will be profitable to test the germination of each ear separately. Where well adapted varieties are grown that properly mature before frost, germinating never has been found among ears selected as soon as mature and cared for properly. Those who have given their seed proper care should pick out 100 representative ears and make a germination test of ten grains from each ear. If these ears germinate well it is not necessary to test the balance of the seed supply.

Nub the Seed Ears.

Before shelling the seed kernels should be discarded from an inch or more off the tips of the ears. Accurate field tests have proved these small kernels to be less productive than the fully developed kernels of the same ears. The thick, irregularly shaped kernels should also be discarded from the butts of the ears. These kernels produce satisfactorily but their size or shape prevents the corn planter from dropping them satisfactorily. It is convenient to nub the entire supply of ears before the shelling process is begun.

Shell Seed Corn.

Many farmers who plant 20 or 40 acres of corn, carefully shell their seed by hand, and are profited by so doing. A few remarkably successful extensive corn growers shell hundreds of bushels by hand. Where much seed is required there is a strong temptation to run through the corn sheller. Hand-shelling is profitable for the small farmer and therefore more profitable for the extensive farmer. The sheller breaks or cracks some of the kernels and there is not the opportunity of examining kernels from different portions of each ear as in shelling by hand. After being nubbled the proper way to shell the seed ears is to shell by hand one ear at a time, dropping the good kernels into a bag through and leave all the kernels from the ear in plain view for inspection. If unsatisfactory, all the kernels can be easily discarded and another ear shelled. The ears should not be shelled directly into the general seed supply for it would then be difficult to separate and discard the undesirable kernels.

The Planter.

If the corn planter gave trouble last spring better order a new one now. A poor corn planter is an expensive implement to use. Even though the planter dropped satisfactorily last year it should be tested with this year's seed supply before planting time arrives. The kernels of a variety of corn frequently vary in size from season to season and different plates may be needed this year from those used satisfactorily last year.

Under favorable field conditions 10 or 20 per cent of the kernels of young stalks are destroyed. Where extensive plantings are made with first-class seed and thinning is impracticable about five kernels should be planted for every four stalks desired. Where help is obtainable that will attend properly to the thinning, it is more profitable to plant twice as many kernels as stalks desired and thin out the weak plants as soon as they become too large and hard to be destroyed by cutworms.

SECOND OLDEST MAN AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Warren S. Young, Uncle of Dr. W. H. Judd, So Credited in Washington Papers.

In the Washington Evening Star of March 3rd, the following interesting item relative to Warren S. Young, uncle of Dr. W. H. Judd of this city is found: Mr. Young visited in Janesville several times and as will be seen is the second oldest employee at the White House, William H. Crook, the oldest, having been employed since January 1, 1865. The item is as follows:

The next oldest White House veteran in point of service is Warren S. Young, who has charge of the social register of the executive mansion. Mr. Young was appointed in 1881 during the administration of President Garfield, and has served without interruption ever since that time. His duties as may be imagined, are exacting in the extreme, and the incoming president will have considerable difficulty in replacing him should it be decided to name another man for the position held so many years by Mr. Young.

Dinner Stories

The office boy had been discovered in a lie? It was not one of the ordinary prevarications of our every day world, but quite a serious and deliberately mendacious effort.

"Do you know, my lad," asked a clerk, in kind tones, "what becomes of lads who trifle with the truth?"

"Lads," was the confident reply, "the phog sends them out traveling when they grow up!"

"Good afternoon, Johnny," said the nice young lady visiting his mother's house in the sweet cause of charity. "Why don't you come to our Sunday school? A lot of your little friends have joined, and we are going to have a lovely party at Christmas."

Johnny shook his head. Then he suddenly exclaimed:

"Has a boy called Johnson, with regular joined you?"

"Yes, dear," said the nice young lady, "and he seems to like it. He's such a good little boy!"

"How is he?" murmured Johnny.

"Well, if he's there I'll come, too. I've been looking for him for three months, and never knew where to find him before."

Somebody was talking to a newly married couple who were spending their honeymoon at Scarborough. "You mustn't leave Scarborough till you've seen the cemetery," he said. "It is well worth a visit!" They said they would go, but they forgot about it until too late. The young wife reproached her husband, "George," she said, "you haven't taken me to the cemetery yet?" "Well, dear," was the reply, "that is a pleasure I must have in the future."

Freak of a Vowel.

Grigg—"This morning I caught a fragment of conversation between a native and a foreigner. The former was saying: 'The "o" remember, is pronounced like "i" in Jim.' What word do you suppose he referred to?"

Briggs—"That's easy! 'Women,' of course."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 11, 1873.—A year ago we made a notice of the improved corn planter manufactured by A. C. Kent of this city, and the remarkable success which it had following its construction. Today we have occasion to look into the subject. Not only has Mr. Kent invented and constructed a machine for planting corn which performs its work to the entire satisfaction of farmers, but his ingenious mind has contrived various mechanical appliances for the manufacture of the labor saving implement which greatly lessens the expense of its construction. Last year he made and sold twenty-five hundred corn planters. Through some defect in the material it was found they were not durable enough to stand the rough service to which they were subjected to in the hands of the farmers. Mr. Kent has sent circulars to all purchasers of his invention asking them to return the same to him, that he might remedy the defect. This nearly all of last year's manufacture were made serviceable for years to come without any extra charge. This year Mr. Kent intends to manufacture one thousand planters, improved and rendered perfect by the experiences of the past years.

Friends of Prof. Bushnell of Beloit College, are saddened to learn of his death. A week ago he was in good health and a week only divided him from his death bed and class room. Mr. Bushnell is fifty-six years of age and has always been a devoted worker in college work. He was one of the earliest professors in the college and had great practical skill and public enterprise.

Mrs. H. A. Smith of this city has been engaged to sing in the choir of the Second Baptist church of Chicago. Mr. Smith has returned from his eastern trip.

Sodium Phosphate is a liver stimulant. It increases the flow of bile which is necessary to the proper digestion of food. Bile also stimulates bowel action. A good many forms of indigestion and constipation are promptly relieved by a few doses of Effervescent Sodium Phosphate taken before breakfast each morning. Jaundice or yellow skin, headaches, dizziness, sour stomach, and other complaints can be traced to the liver. Stimulate the liver and the trouble is gone. Sodium Phosphate that has always been sold at 50c a bottle for a few days we will sell at 25c a bottle. Get it today. Give it a trial. You will be much pleased.
